OIL QUESTS TO STIR STRIFE

Controversies Over New Essential Doomed to Diplomacy, Says Hagwood

By NORMAN HAGWOOD
Staff Correspondent of Boston American

Washington, April 26.—A cablegram has been received in this country that carries the oil controversy on its fast side on step further. It is a result of the publication of Senator Felt's letter to Senator Lodge on the British government's ownership of oil in the Dutch East Indies. What relation, if any, it has to the differences in the Cabinet on the subject can only be surmised.

The cablegram is from the head of the Dutch Shell Company in Holland to the head of the business in this country. It is an absolute denial that the British government owns a share of oil to the company or ever did own a share.

It should be recalled that the controversy over oil fields is only to start a controversy over facts. As Mr. Hughes first became famous through fast inquiries for oil, so it seems that he will soon get to the bottom of the subject as far as it depends on the accuracy of conflicting reports about ownership.

ACTUAL OWNERSHIP

There will remain the question of principle in which on its political side the outstanding feature at present is the matter of mandate. Some prominent statements have indicated that our note on Yap related to Yap only. It is on the contrary, directly certain that the most careful aspect of that note is the broadening of the Yap question to include all mandate of every kind, and indeed all points of the Versailles treaty in which we have any interest.

Some members of the present administration who are most concerned with these matters, hold that the most important thing for us is in the protection of our oil fields in the total ownership of the oil lands. Anything else, they think, is likely to prove elusive. Naturally this means private purchase, an oil government does not go into such purchases abroad. If private business men are to branch out in the most prominent fields, this point of view holds. They will naturally expect reasonable backing from the government as far as the protection of their investments is concerned, on the diplomatic side.

BOOMED TO DIPLOMACY

A corollary to what I have just related is that according to the same type of thinking, the big business men in the countries that are competing for the world's oil supply are the ones to work out a satisfactory agreement about relative amounts owned by them in such important fields as Mesopotamia, the Dutch East Indies, and the west slope of the Andes, including Persia as well as Columbia.

Settlements by governments, according to this view, would not be called in upon the big oil interests there.

Wellesley Girls Shine Shoes for Fund

These girls are doing these odd jobs to swell $2,700,000 semi-centennial endowment fund. Elizabeth H. Ryan, Titusville, Pa., shining 'em up for Marion G. Seelye, Glen Falls, N. Y.; Madeline Cassidy, Rutland, Vt., doing her bit with lawn mower; caterer girls are (left) Barbara Ann Bates, Binghamton, N. Y.; (right) Marion K. Weil, Montgomery, Ala.

actively failed to reach a satisfactory arrangement.

The subject of oil will inevitably, however, remain a great subject of diplomacy. The struggle for essential raw materials has had more to do with diplomacy in the last half century than anything else. Oil is the great new essential. We are passing out of the age of steam into the age of oil. The entire imaginations of our big business men focus on it as a source of a victory or loss, as directed by the world's course.

CANADA NEXT

No wonder, then, that there has been, on much excitement about the economic treaty and the Mesopotamian situation. No wonder that we shall surely see a fresh outburst of excitement when the breaking up of the ice on the Arctic shores makes possible a dash of venture capitalists into the Canadian Northwest in the effort to get in early on the large promises of the Mackenzie River basin.

To illustrate the eagerness of these promoters a story is going around this town—perhaps an old one for all I know. An oil man applies to St. Peter for admission. He is told that too many oil men have been admitted lately and he will have to go on the waiting list.

"Give here," says the applicant, "many of these fellows in there do not really want to stay or would not if they knew the facts. May I send in a message?"

After more persuasion he is permitted to send in the message that oil has been discovered in Italy.

Immediately from all directions there comes a rush of oil men headed downward. The investor of the case watched the rush for a while. Then he began to be caught by the contagion. Finally joins the stampede himself.

Our fathers saw the rush for gold. Inevitably your sons will rush where there is a chance for oil. It is one of the inevitable things of history.

FILEN'S 'HOME BREW' TO BE PRODUCED TOMORROW

"Home Brew" the musical comedy of the Filene's Cooperative Association, is almost immediately ready for presentation.

The first formal performance will be given at the Tremont Theatre tomorrow evening, and its success will be reproduced every other evening this week as well as on Saturday matinee.

The book and music are by E. L. Harton, secretary of the association and the lyrics by E. L. Butler, director of personnel for the company. Miss Amelia Burnham is training the dancers for the performance.

WHIST PARTY IN AID OF IRISH RELIEF DRIVE

The General John Sullivan Council, A. E. I. O. U., will hold the first of a series of whist at the Clarendon Hill parish hall, 11 and Seventh streets, South Boston, on next Thursday evening. Miss Mary Ryan, is the chairman of the committee, assisted by Mrs. O'Leary, Mrs. Donovan, Mrs. Maloney, Mrs. Wroath, Miss Evans and Miss Connolly.

5-CENT FARE FOR SOMERVILLE

Elevated Trustees Grant Petition of Residents for Lower City Rate

Somerville is to have a local 5-cent fare within that city's limits. Representative Warren G. Taggart recently started a campaign for a 5-cent fare in Somerville and with Major Eldridge and a committee of other prominent citizens, presented to the Boston Elevated trustees a petition signed by over 100 residents has been notified by Edward T. Dana, general manager, that the petition has been favorably acted on in 1921.

The lines in Somerville affected are the Clarendon Hill-Highland avenue-Sullivan square; Clarendon Hill-Broadway-Sullivan square; and Magoun square-Sullivan square lines. No definite date has yet been decided on for the introduction of the local five-cent fare, but it will be in the near future. They add that they are considering the possibility of a local five-cent fare on the Somerville avenue and Spring Hill lines.

The new program calls for the extension of the present Dade square-Highland avenue-Sullivan square line to the Clarendon Hill or both. Only on this line can passengers ride via Highland avenue for a local five-cent fare. All the Clarendon Hill-Broadway-Sullivan square and Magoun square-Sullivan square cars will be operated on the five-cent basis to and from Sullivan square.

CITY OF LAWRENCE SEIZES SCHOOL SITE

Lawrence, April 26.—The city of Lawrence will seize a plot of land at Irving avenue and Harvard street for use as a site for a proposed new elementary school to care for about 1,000 pupils. $4,000 damages were awarded in connection with the seizure.

CITY TO STUDY LIGHT PROJECT

Council Adopts Watson Order to Probe Question of Municipal Illuminating Plant

Following an attack by Councilor Watson on the "local lighting trust," the City Council committed itself unanimously to a study by the executive committee of the feasibility and advisability of establishing a municipally operated plant for the manufacture of gas and electricity for its illuminating purposes. The order was introduced by Councilor Watson.

Councilor Watson stated that Mayor Peters is planning to petition the State Department of Public Utilities for a reduction of the Edison Company's rate per kilowatt hour, and that Peters intends soon to submit to the Council an order for a study for investigation of gas and electric rates.

Mayor Peters could not be reached later for a verification of these assertions.

Watson told how such municipal lighting plants are now being considered with success in Holyoke, Danvers, Kirksville, N. Y., and Cleveland.

GIRL AMAZON BATTLES WOMEN AND MEN POLICE

New York, April 26.—When New Yorkers aboard a Third Avenue elevated train were treated to a thrill when two women protection officers, two policemen, a train guard and a few male passengers fought a battle with Miss Victoria Markovitch of No. 284 Mitchell street, Bridgeport, Conn. and after one of the elevated cars had been nearly wrecked finally succeeded in subduing the amazon.

She has been arrested and is now in jail awaiting an investigation by the police which may link her with several robberies on the East side of this city.

The "Bond" star has 6 points

As the little girl looks out into the world above, she imagines things. That star is her "dolly-star," that one is her "daddy-star," that one is her "doggy-star."

Next to the dipper—over 'near the milky way—she may see a new star—the "Bond Bread Star"—shining down on almost every home where mothers seek the best for their children.

LIKE every good star the Bond Bread star has several points. These are the six points that set Bond Bread high in the firmament of foods—the six ingredients which make it so pure and delicious:—

1. Pure milk
2. Best flour
3. Pure lard
4. Fresh yeast
5. Table salt
6. Granulated sugar

MOTHERS thank their lucky stars that now there is a loaf made of such pure ingredients as are listed in the Bond on each Bond Bread wrapper.

From that Bond, Bond Bread is named.

Managers and Manipulators Face Warm Time at Hands of Senate

By DIPLOMAT.

Washington, April 26.—When the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee begins its hearings on railroad legislation, May 2, the managers of the United States economy and their financial manipulators are going to be raked over the coals in what may prove to be one of the greatest exposures of high finance and plutocracy to sabotage this country's free press.

This is not a spasm of sudden virtue on the part of the Senate. Oh, no! Things don't happen that way, at least in Washington. Reform is a reform and a reform may agitate until they are blue in the face, but there is never any action in Washington, except under one Either some man in power gets out his knife and plunges it to the hilt in somebody that he believes has thrown him down or else the big fellows fall out and begin fighting among themselves. Then things begin to hum.

BOTH FORCES AT WORK.

In this case both forces are at work, and unless someone is run-strong enough to stick a monkey wrench into a lot of well-considered, carefully planned legislation. Every day, a large bunch of dirty linen is going to be washed right out in the open where the people can see the spots.

Senator Cummins, father of the bill, is a man of high character and powerful chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, has no truck with the railroads. He sticks it in the men that made a mess of railroad operation under the law and the men that made a mess of railroads for their own private benefit. So outrageously that the cost to the government was $100,000,000 as great as during the whole period of public control.

Senator Cummins, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee, however, couldn't make a dent in the power of the railroads. He was working alone. But he isn't. He has the backing of one of the strongest groups in the country, the railroad laborers, who are fighting to save their property from

of Parade

Public Celebrations Director E. R. Parke, who is also the Mayor's secretary, was the storm centre of the meeting in City Hall of the Dorchester Day committee, whose members

Representative Coleman Kelly said he was against taking money from the children for parade purposes, but couldn't see why the city couldn't

Other members hinted that the grade was wanted because members of the committee couldn't resist temptation to be seen on a horse.

Senator John J. Casey attacked the appointment of Charles S. Lawler, superintendent of the city printing plant, as chairman of the committee.

Director Parke declared the celebrations' fund was limited by statute and was now already pledged up to the end of the year.

The committee will see the Mayor next Thursday.

Reducing the Cotton Crop

Southern cotton growers are executing the plan of reducing cotton production, according to wire reports from all parts of the belt. A canvass of bankers in the South indicates that acreage has been reduced 25 per cent, on the average. There will be a big carry-over of cotton this season and a curtailed crop will not cause any shortage.

Surplus Car Decrease

During the week ended April 1, the number of idle freight cars was reduced from 507,427 to 495,765, a decrease of 7,618. The improvement was due to the increased demand for coal cars.

The daily average of crude oil production in this country during the week ended with April 16 was 1,410,000 barrels, a decrease of 4,970 from the preceding week.

For the first time since the days of Massachusetts and King Philip the Governor and Legislature of the old Bay State yesterday suspended State Hunt laws to grip the hands of red skinned

The costumes, which were the guests of honor, and the members of the Society of Magnanimities, were Indian chiefs of the Blackfeet tribe from the Glacier National Park, and they are in Boston in connection with the showing at Garden's Old South Theatre, of Marshall Neilan's photoplay, "Bois Hampton of Placerville," a film which has as its chief features a picture of a scene and a marvelous staging a reproduction of General Custer's last stand. It is held at the Old South Theatre, and the Indian chiefs of the tribe are held in connection with the showing of the film, which is shown through the

The Indians seemed much impressed by the demonstrations of respect shown them and with the grandeur of the state house Governor Cox was keenly interested in the conversation of the redmen and took delight in pointing them about the city.

Following this interview between the Indian chief and the chief of Massachusetts officials the Indians were conducted to the House of Representatives where they were seated a stone of excitement.

The Indians were ushered to the platform where they stood beside the speaker, Elting Young, and

ITALIAN STAR READY TO TACKLE EARL CRODOCK AT ARENA

CARD EXPECTS TO WIN

Big Crowd Expected at Tonight's Wrestling Tournament in Ice Palace

Prepare for any kind of a battle that Earl Crodock, the world's light heavyweight wrestling champion, might put up, Renato Gardini, the Italian idol, is perfectly confident that he will down the present champion in their contest up at the new Boston Arena tonight. Never was there any more interest in a grappling match as that between the meeting of these two giants this evening.

Renato Gardini, the durable Pole, has been for a British match with Tom Lane, the Irishman, in the Ice Palace, but he has been in the arena since Sunday and has to fear about being pushed down the big Crodock. He is preparing for the battle with the world's champion in the Ice Palace, and is ready to show the best he has against Lane.

Goliath, the Hindu wrestler, who has created quite a stir in the country, will also meet Tom Lane, the Irishman, in the Ice Palace.

Doyle Stops Loughlin in Slashing Bout

By JACK CONWAY.

Paul Doyle won a sensational third-round victory over E. J. Loughlin at the opening show of the Balmori A. A. at the Boston Arena. A terrific right-hand punch to the jaw sent Loughlin to the canvas, where he was counted out by Referee Noah Perry.

It was one of the most brilliant battles staged in this city in several months despite the fact it lasted only three minutes.

Doyle's knockout win came as a bit of a surprise as Loughlin had been expected to win. Doyle's victory was a real surprise as Loughlin had been expected to win.

ROCKLAND HIGH HOLDS THE RECORD

Rockland High holds the record for the longest number of runs up to date, sending 30 men over the plate in nine innings against East Bridgewater High in a recent contest.

Huntington School handed Groton an easy victory, giving the Grotonians five runs in the first inning. A rally in the sixth which netted the Red Sox school three runs, was of no avail with the "big five" of the first inning on the scoreboard.

The Huntington track team is now making time for the biggest event of the year, the Penn relay to which it is going to take a prominent part. The team that will represent Huntington in both these events will be fully as strong as the Kester relay to which it finished second last year.

THE MILE RELAY TEAM THAT IS CONSIDERED THE BEST

The mile relay team that is considered the best ever to represent the school is made up of Captain Robert Condon, winner of the quarter mile event in both the Harvard and Dartmouth track meets; Archibald, former Brookline star; and Brown.

Husband's Battle to Keep Love of Fascinating But Fickle Wife

to Keep Love of Fascist Fickle Wife

† fright and the agony that was his, too, had taken the chloroform cone from the nurse's hysterical hands, and her place at the head of the bed.

He had followed the doctor's instructions as methodically and accurately as if he had been trained to the work. Between the two intervals, Diana's mother had come into the room. She seemed to know just what was going on at the moment without looking. She had taken her dress and put on instead a blue silk dressing gown, at head sleeves to the elbow, finished off with flounces of soft lace. She would stand with one elbow and

She had been perfectly calm and matter of fact. But her face, that was as beautiful as Diana's, looked as if it had been carved out of gray granite.

very tight pigtail. She had on a pair of Mannings' heavy golf stockings, absurdly big for her, because in spite of the coal fire that roared in the grate and the hot air that came from the furnace, the room was cold. They had kept her covered as much as possible. They had spared her all the pain that could be spared her.

There were no idle moments for Manners. He administered the chloroform. He held her hand tight—tight. He made love to her, in a loud voice, so that his words might pierce the veils of chloroform and give her courage.

"Dearest Darling Frank! Dearest

O God! How they had loved each other through the horrors of that night! Manners had thought that she was going to die. Even the doctor had grown very anxious toward the end, and had glanced more and more often toward that dish of sterilized instruments which serve their end when it has become evident that of two lives only one can be saved.
